To whom it may concern:

I live at 480 W. Ash St. in a home with a barn and an additional outbuilding that were built around 1865. When we purchased our home about 12 years ago, the buildings needed a considerable amount of repair. Many may have thought that it was not worth saving. I'm glad that we made the extra effort to restore our property. I think that what we have is unique, special, and contributes to the character of our town. Restoration is not always the easiest option, but I believe that retaining historic buildings is a worthy investment. Certain homes are unique and cannot be replicated. I am in favor of a Conservation district.
