UPDATE:

Postponement of Airport Open House

Due to the amount of public interest in the Open House at the Indianapolis Executive Airport and the need to provide and maintain COVID-19 safety protocols, tonight's Open House has been postponed until an undetermined future date. There will also be an added option for a virtual presentation, which will ensure everyone has the opportunity to have their comments heard prior to the occurrence of an Open House associated with the draft Airport Land Use Study.

Attempts are being made to share the news of this postponement via multiple channels. Please feel free to share this notice of postponement with others who had planned to attend.

When the date, time and location of the rescheduled Open House is determined, this information will be shared on the Town's website and other channels. The date and time of the future Zoom event will be shared in the same manner.

We apologize for any inconvenience this postponement may cause but look forward to future community discussions on the Airport Land Use Study.
